

For immediate release

There's a brand-new cryptocurrency coming to the market.

What makes it exclusive to existing cryptocurrencies like Bitcoin, Ethereum etc...?

It's backed by gold. (Redeemable in Gold on Demand)

November 30, 2016 - Devalin Inc., the Canadian based research and business development company since 2004, will launch the coin on December 1st, 2016.

Gold is certainly the most reliable store of value of all time, which is why Devalin Inc. chose it to back his new cryptocurrency.

The coin will be valued at 1 oz of 999.9 fine gold, and will serve as a more secure store of value than Bitcoin. It will be called Eldorado (ELDO)

Since the coin will be backed by gold, all coins (2.5 million coins) will be pre-mined at startup and will remain in dormant wallets until individuals, exchanges, trading platforms, corporations etc... acquired some coins. So for each coin in circulation, 1 oz of 999.9 fine gold bar will be secured in a vault at an undisclosed location. A more in-depth technical specification can be found here - <http://eldorado-gold.net>

Coins will be available to buy directly on the new Devalin.net website at (London Bullion Market prices or Shanghai Gold Exchange prices "which one is the highest") + 5%. Will also be available on worldwide cryptocurrency exchanges and trading platforms. Furthermore, Eldorado will be Redeemable in Gold on Demand via Devalin.net website (minimum 1 Eldo for 1 oz of 999.9 fine gold bar) + $60 USD for standard minting/casting and shipping worldwide fully insured with tracking numbers.

The developers are dedicated to building more apps for the platform, to increase usability and garner more widespread appeal. The development team have years of professional experience, enabling them to give the end user superior technical support and to create industry leading software.
